Block E, Plaza San Pablo:

Block E was part of 7 parcels originally acquired by the former redevelopment agency to eliminate blighting conditions. The 7 original lots were then assembled and subdivided which created the .96 acre Block E.

On July, 2013, the Oversight Board approved Resolution OB2013-010 authorizing the transfer of Block E to the City of San Pablo as the Housing Successor to the former RDA.

In 2017, the City of San Pablo Housing Successor determined that Block E is not suitable for affordable housing and should be sold. Upon a sale of Block E, the proceeds will be deposited into the fund and used for affordable housing purposes.

In 2020, the City of San Pablo Housing Successor entered into a Disposition and Development Agreement to sell Block E and develop not less than sixteen for-sale homes, including one home that is intended to be restricted for sale to “lower income households,” as defined in Health and Safety Code Section 50079.5, at “affordable housing cost,” as defined in Health and Safety Code Section 50052.5.

1820 Rumrill Boulevard:

1820 Rumrill Boulevard was acquired by the former Redevelopment Agency in 2007 for affordable housing purposes. The Local Successor Agency approved the transfer of 1820 Rumrill Boulevard to the City as a housing asset on January 20, 2015, by Resolution LSA 2015-001. The Oversight Board approved the transfer of 1820 Rumrill Boulevard to the City as a housing asset by Resolution OB2015-001, adopted on January 26, 2015. The Department of Finance approved the transfer of 1820 Rumrill Boulevard to the City as a housing asset on February 2, 2015.

The City is currently marketing the site for an affordable housing development.

9. A description of outstanding obligations pursuant to Section 33413 that remain to transfer to the housing successor on February 1, 2012, a description of the housing successor’s progress in meeting those obligations, and a description of the housing successor’s plans to meet unmet obligations. In addition, the housing successor shall include in the report posted on its Internet Web site the implementation plans of the former redevelopment agency.
